When will we walk away
When will we see the falling day
When will we stop to ask, what has changed
When will we face our foes
When will we see the end we chose
When will we break the pattern of our homes
'Cause you can't see it's all inside your head
You won't know it's too late till you're dead
All of your prayers won't make him care
Follow my words and you will see that everyone and everything is nothing more than a fucking dream
Follow my every step
Follow my every waking breath and you will learn to live before you're dead
'Cause you can't see it's all inside your head
Yes you won't know it's too late till you're dead
You're dead
All your prayers won't make them give a fuck
They won't care and they won't give a fuck
They won't give a fuck 'cause you can't see it's all inside your head
Yes you won't know it's too late till you're dead
