

Untethered

© 2017 Mechanization | www.mechanization.us

I move from the ether
I move from the waves
I see every soul connected to their graves
I walk among zombies
I walk among slaves
I think about the times when we didn't need ways to escape

We didn't need ways to escape

I block radiation
I block out the rays
I see everyone infected without shame
I think of the burning
I think of the pain
I think about the times when we didn't need space to relate

I fight temptation
I fight every day
I see every goal that we set just fly away
I look to the future
I look every day
I think about the times when we didn't use screens to create

We didn't use screens to create

I run to tomorrow
I run from the maze
I know every spark that we light will turn into flames
I see through devices
I see through the haze
I think about the times when we didn't seek trust betray

Fuck your screens, fuck your screen

Untethered... I am untethered