MECHANIZATION METAL IS BACK! Like a dagger to the spleen, or Indian food to your rectum, Mechanization's metal is here once again to burn memories into your permanent existence. All pretenses dropped, "Mortem In Aeternum" is a blasting musical accompaniment to the coming apocalypse.

This latest effort truly demonstrates that there is no time for over-thought lyrics no one cares about, or meandering solos that add nothing to a song, or useless creative opinions that delay album releases. "Mortem In Aeternum" is what Mechanization does best—ass-ripping metal! Developed over 20 years, Terrorence and HMT's musical language is on full display in its purest form. The theater lights have dimmed, and bloody heads are rolling through the aisles. So throw up your horns and prepare for carnage.
